WEDDING CARDS.

We have a variety of over 100 styles of wedding invitations and cards. Parties intending to commit matrimony during the holiday season should come in and make their selections. We have some very handsome styles. The Voice takes a back seat for nobody on this class of work.

The Fair.

Don't forget the fair to be held by the ladies of the First Presbyterian church, Friday afternoon and evening Nov. 25th, in the building now occupied by Mr. Katekin. All parties desiring to purchase anything in the line of fancy articles, aprons, and dressed dolls for Christmas presents will do well to give the ladies a call. Come one come all and bid on our elegant silk slumber robe to be sold in the evening. A fine musical program will be given in the evening. Coffee and sandwiches will be served any time from 11 a. m. to 11 p. m.

A good play is billed for the opera house next Monday night—"A Midnight Alarm." The company carry a carload of beautiful scenery and produce wonderful mechanical effects. Notable among these are the Brooklyn bridge and the statue of liberty showing Brooklyn in the distance, Uncle Gideon's farm, the flight of the lightning express, railroad draw bridge, interior and exterior of Engine House, No. 6, New York city. There is great excitement at the ringing in of the midnight alarm, and the rush of the steamer drawn by two beautiful horses is said to be very realistic.

The cornet bands of Sumner county met at Belle Plaine last Monday and effected a county organization. Officers were elected as follows: L. S. Alton, Milan, president; C. G. Chapman, Wellington, vice president; H. R. Funk, Belle Plaine, secretary; J. H. Chenoweth, Conway Springs, treasurer; W. H. Caman, Wellington, musical director. The next meeting will be held in the same city about the middle of February, no exact date having yet been agreed upon. In the morning a grand parade will take place, fully 125 of the county's band men being in line. A concert will be provided as the evening part of the program and will be held in the opera house.

Reading for the Young People.

One cannot go into our farmers' homes without noticing the sad lack of books for the children to read. We mean books which they would like to read and which are therefore attractive to them. The day has gone by when the only approved book for a boy or girl was one that had a moral sticking out of every page. Any book that is innocent, bright, wide awake, and at the same time instructive and entertaining is a good book—a splendid book. And the young people ought to have just such books, both in city and country.

We are glad to see that the teachers of the state have set on foot a movement in the direction of suggesting a most excellent series of books for young people of different ages. They have also made arrangements by which the books can be obtained at wholesale prices. An admirable list has been selected from the publications of several houses, and a beautiful little booklet describing these can be obtained from the secretary of the Young People's Reading Circle Board—Co. Supt. J. F. Maxey, of Ottawa, Kansas.

This important movement, inaugurated by those teachers who best know the needs of such books at home and in school, will be a great help to those often desiring to purchase, but not knowing where to obtain the best things.

Ripans Tabules: for torpid liver.

The Lecture Club.

Evening Mail. The first of the lecture club entertainments was given at the opera house last Saturday night and had a good audience of the best people in the city. The entertainment was given by the Boston Lyceum Concert Co., and consisted of cornet, violin and piano playing, singing and the rendition of humorous and pathetic selections and songs by the artists of the company. The entertainment was in every sense satisfactory to the patrons of the course and undoubtedly to all others who attended. The next attraction in the course is Joseph Cook, of Boston, who will be here the 27th of December.
